Reporting Responsibility

It is the responsibility of all board members and employees of YBBBS to comply with our Code of Ethics and to report any suspected violations in accordance with this Whistleblower Policy. Violations include, but are not limited to deliberate violation of a law; theft; discrimination or harassment; falsification of contracts, reports, or records; conflict of interest; unauthorized disclosure of confidential information; use of donor funds not as donors directed; and intentional misuse and/or misstatement of business and financial information or transactions.

No Retaliation

No board member or employee who in good faith reports a suspected violation of YBBBS’ Code of Ethics shall suffer harassment, retaliation or adverse employment consequences. An employee who retaliates against someone who has reported a suspected violation in good faith is subject to discipline up to and including termination of employment, and any other penalties as determined by law. This Whistleblower Policy is intended to encourage and enable employees and others to raise serious concerns within YBBBS prior to seeking resolution outside the agency.

Reporting Violations

YBBBS has developed policies and procedures for board members and staff to report suspected violations of our Code of Ethics, including confidential, anonymous reporting to a third-party.

YBBBS has an open door policy. Employees are encouraged to share their questions, concerns, suggestions or complaints with a staff member who can address them properly. In most cases an employee’s supervisor, COO or CEO is in the best position to address an area of concern. However, if the employee is uncomfortable or unable to speak with any of the above persons (e.g., they may be linked to, or be the suspected perpetrator), the employee’s concerns should be brought to the following third-party.

(NOTE: Reporting, investigation and resolution of suspected inappropriate financial dealings, including but not limited to accounting, application of internal accounting controls, misuse of funds and auditing matters, are subject to a separate Investigation of Financial Impropieties procedure (attached hereto as Appendix A and incorporated herein by reference), which vests responsibility for investigating and resolving complaints relating to "Financial Matters" in the Treasurer and the Finance Committee.)
